

Repurcussion of Experimental Krimija Grahani (Giardiasis) on Thyroid in Albino Rats

Thyroid disorders are very common in India. A general belief prevails about its cause. Its cause is accredited to a deficiency of iodine in water. However, some concrete sources or causes of Giardiasis are yet to be established and they need intensive research, especially in terms of clinical and medicinal experiments on an even vaster scale. The present paper attempts to study only these sensitive aspects of the disease. This article is a humble but authentic effort in clinical research and experimentation.
