

BRYOPHYTES THE SOURCE OF THE ORIGIN OF SHILAJATU- A NEW HYPOTHESIS

G.C. Joshi, K.C. Tiwari, N.K. Pande & G. Pandey

Received on 30.11.1992

In the past researches it has been proved that the Shilajit, exuding from the rocks of mountains basically derived from vegetative source. But an absolutely right source of the origin of Shilajit is still under controversy. In the present study a new hypothesis has been given and suggested that bryophytes are the basic source of the origin of Shilajit. This hypothesis provide a valuable clues towards this mystery and also strengthen the vegetative origin of Shilajit.